PAYNE GAVE STRANGE ADVICE Admits He Ordered Delivery Point at Centre Bridge.

NEW YORK Sept. 25.—The pipe line station of the National Transit company a Standard Oil corporation at Centre Bridge on the State line, which he contends is a terminal station was built in 1906 on the advice of John G. Milburn of counsel for the company.

Mr. Milburn is representing the Standard Oil company in the federal hearing now in progress in this city.

It is contended by the government that the Centre Bridge station was built as a nominal delivery point in 1906 to evade the Hepburn act, which provided that pipe line carriers shall submit schedules of tariffs to their terminals. It is the government's view that the company's real terminal is Bayonne, N. J.

In today's hearing Frank E. Kellogg for the government asked C. M. Payne an employee of the Standard Oil company who it was that advised the building of delivery tanks at Centre Bridge.

"I did interpose Mr. Milburn," I thought under the law it would be a delivery point there. I thought it excellent advice."

"I don't," said Mr. Kellogg.

YOELL'S SON ATTEMPTED BLACKMAIL, IS PROOF

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The entire morning session in the Yoell will-contest in Judge Graham's court was taken up with the cross-examination of Miss Gertrude Yoell by Attorney Hiram Johnson, representing Mrs. Eva Levy to whom Yoell left the bulk of his money. There was little notable about the proceedings and they would have been even tedious but for the occasional spats between counsel. This is the second day that Miss Gertrude has been on the stand and Attorney Johnson promises to be through with her after a few more questions in the afternoon session.

When this case was tried before the first time something like two months ago, the evidence and it is very likely that that time will again be consumed in the present trial.

TRIED BLACKMAIL

The principal point brought out by Attorney Johnson in the cross-examination this morning was the fact that William and Herbert, two of Mr. Yoell's sons had led the old man a merry dance, and had endeavored as far as they could to make him miserable. It was brought out that Herbert had at one time tried to blackmail his father by threatening to publish some facts in the newspapers, and that William had frequently beaten his father and always been disrespectful toward his father. The evidence brought out seemed to support Attorney Johnson's declaration that the old man had a right to disinherit his sons.

MURDERER BARRICADED IN BUILDING DEFIES POSSE Strangler of Woman Is Prepared to Give Desperate Battle to Officers.

CHICAGO Sept. 25.—Richard Walton the colored man wanted for the murder of Mrs. Lillian W. Grant the teacher who was found in her room strangled to death several days ago is said to be surrounded by the police in a deserted building at Summit, Ill. twenty miles south of the city. He is reported as being barricaded strongly in the building and to be abundantly supplied with weapons and ammunition. Including a force of police who left the city shortly before 9 o'clock, about fifty officers are on the ground. Walton is an ex-convict and has the reputation of being a desperate man.

SLAYS HIS WIFE WITH HAMMER

ELGIN, Ill. Sept. 25.—Cyrus Baldwin, 35 years of age one of the wealthiest residents of Kane county, killed himself today by eating pills green after he had confessed that he had murdered his aged wife by smashing her skull with a hammer.

Mrs. Baldwin was found dead yesterday. Today Baldwin said he killed his wife after a quarrel.

PARKSIDE CASES AGAIN GO OVER Appeal to Supreme Court Is Ground for Delay.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 25.—Attorney William Rix representing Umben Brock and Green indicted in connection with the Parkside bribery appeared in Judge Dunne's court this morning at the calling of the case and asked for a week's continuance.

He represented to the court that his clients had an appeal before the Supreme Court, based upon the allegation that the evidence before the grand jury was not sufficient to indict his clients.

Pending the court's decision in the matter Judge Dunne allowed the case to go over as requested.

FOUR TICKETS IN FIELD Dan Ryan Thought He Would Get Labor Nomination, but He Is Badly Fooled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The nomination of Dan Ryan for Mayor by the Republicans has made a three-cornered mayoralty fight in the city a practical certainty. The schemes of the political theorists have come to naught. The interesting business men who preach good government and civic decency and practice a habit of remaining away from the primary polls have been taught another lesson in practical politics. They have been rapped again on the knuckles of their self-system and their self-interest, that the fellows who vote at the primary are not in the game either for their health or for the good of the general community.

RYAN ACCEPTED.

Whatever else may be said to the contrary, Ryan accepted the Republican nomination for Mayor only after he had received assurance of what he believed to be a binding character that he would be given the Union Labor endorsement. It was for this reason and no other that he resisted the blandishments of brigades of business men and decided to give himself the nomination for a position which it seems very unlikely he is destined to occupy.

Ryan's chances of receiving the Union Labor nomination for Mayor at the convention tonight is as remote as would be that of Herbert George. The political unionists have no more intention of permitting one of these striving gentlemen to head their ticket than they would allow the other. Ryan has simply been made the victim of a shrewd political trick perpetrated by P. H. McCarthy for his own political interest or of that of anybody else that he cares to manipulate as his maverick figurehead.

The result is saddening to two largely representative classes in the community. While the practical politicians, who live in the Republican nook of the woods, practiced all sorts of trickery on the merchants and while the merchants rehearsed the customary platitudes on the needs of municipal government, both are now a unit in distress. The practical job-chasers realize that Ryan is not a vote-getter and the business men see their

CHARGED WITH CHASING HIS CHILD WITH WEAPON Father Once Declared to Be Member of "Black Hand" Is Arrested at Alameda.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 25.—Mike Kuren was member of the "Black Hand," and had threatened his life. Kuren was dismissed at the trial but for the past few months Christian has been reporting to the police that Kuren had again threatened to kill him.

A few days ago Kuren came to this city and chased his little girl for a block, according to the complaint sworn to by John Christian.

He was unable to secure bail and is to be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

TRIED TO BRIBE JUROR IN STANDARD OIL TRIAL

FINDLAY, Ohio, Sept. 25.—J. B. Williamson was arrested yesterday on an indictment charging him with attempting to bribe Chase Thompson a juror in the case of the State of Ohio against the Standard Oil Company which was tried here last June.

Mrs. Chase Thompson said that Williamson approached her and asked her to persuade her husband to disagree and hang the jury in the Standard Oil case. The final vote of the jury was eight to four for conviction.

Williamson in a statement made in the county jail today admitted that he had made the proposition to Mrs. Thompson, saying that her husband would be paid from $500 to $3000 should the jury disagree.

OH, WHAT A HEADACHE!

He has $35,000 boodle money in his safe deposit boxes, one of which is in bank of which Spreckels is president.

Immunity bath for the big grafter and he can keep the boodle.

BOODLER BIG JIM GALLAGHER

Here's a man who testified under oath that he cannot remember where he got $10,000 excess in his boodle fund. This is what Attorney Rogers asked the Boss Boodler: "Where did you get that extra $10,000 if you didn't get it from Spreckels?"

IMMUNITY-BATHED GRAFTERS ARE HOTLY GRILLED BY EARL ROGERS

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 25.—That they would have voted for the overhead trolley franchise even though they had received no alleged bribe was the testimony of eight of the immunity washed ex-supervisors who were placed on the stand in the morning session of the Ford bribery trial. This point was brought out by the defense in each and every case, and is intended to play an important part in the case the attorneys representing Trolley L. Ford are making.

Former Supervisors Coffey Coleman, Harrigan, Kelley Walsh Nichols and Boxton were placed on the stand. The examination of the various boodlers was dry and tiresome to the big audience. The tale of graft, of the disposition of the money, and their belief that the trolley franchise was for the best interest of the city was the substance of the testimony of each.

The fact, however that the testimony showed that the ordinance could have been passed without the aid of Ruef, which has been testified to comes as a surprise to those interested in the case and also surprised the prosecution. That Henry was nettled by the statements of the grafters was shown by his acidity of manner and the raspy tone of his voice when questioning the boodlers. He held frequent conferences with Langdon and O'Gara and later with Spreckels when he arrived.

The eight boodlers who were on the rack throughout the session merely repeated what they had told the grand jury. It is the intention of the prosecution to put on all the members of the old board in order that they may corroborate the paying of the money by Gallagher. One act that is noticeable in the grafters is that each and everyone tells his story in an unconcerned way as though relating an ordinary incident of everyday life.

PRINCIPALS GATHER EARLY AT TRIAL

Principals in the Ford trial gathered early. Half an hour before court convened there were throngs around the Temple Israel. Attorneys and detectives formed most of the gathering. Patrick Calhoun was an early arrival in his automobile, accompanied by Alexander C. King, his former law partner. Attorney John J. Barrett was in evidence fully three quarters of an hour before the time set for the trial to begin. Stanley Moore and his father the veteran A. A. Moore were the first of the defense attorneys to take their places in court.

Accompanied by Miss Byington Miss Caroon and Miss Ford, Trolley L. Ford was also an early arrival and took his place in the visitors' pew. This is the first time Ford has been accompanied by his daughter and the first time she has been in court.

Earl Rogers, Louis J. Brynston, William J. Abbott, Porter Ashe and several friends came in forter.

At 9 o'clock court was called to order.

Call W. B. Loran and Henry with-out any preliminary and the former supervisor took the stand.

"Coffee, how long have you lived in this city?" asked Henry.

"About forty years."

"I suppose it can be understood that the same objection that applied to Davis' testimony will apply to this witness," said Stanley Moore.

This was agreed to by the prosecution and the court, and the examination proceeded.

ATTENDED SUNDAY NIGHT CAUCUSES.

"When did you first become a supervisor?" asked Henry.

"I don't know," replied the witness.

"No sir."

"Did you attend any of the Sunday night caucuses after the fire?"

"Yes, sir."

"All of them?"

"No only a few."

"Did you talk with any of the members?"

SAY THEY WOULD HAVE VOTED FOR BILL ANY WAY

bers of the board about the bill regarding this matter?"

"No, sir."

"Did you know there was any money coming to you for the passage of the ordinance?"

"Not at that time."

"When did you first hear anything about there being any money in the passage of the ordinance?"

"I don't remember."

RECEIVED HIS PAY IN SMALL BILLS.

"Well, did you receive any money for your vote on the passage of your ordinance?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes, sir."

"How much?"

"$2000," replied Coffey.

"What kind of currency?"

"In bills of small denomination, I think."

"When did you get it?"

"I think it was in the fore part of September."

"How did you get the date?"

"I had to go east on Monday, and am sure I got the money a couple of days before that."

The former Lack driver, with a slightly glib manner, appeared at his ease, and although reluctant to tell of his boodling, he gave the evidence clear, and without apparent emotion. Like the other hoodlums who have so far taken the stand, he was cool and collected, but he was not without a certain amount of nervousness, and he turned his eyes to the blue dome of the auditorium.

Henry then turned the witness over to the defense and Rogers began the cross-examination.

"You were due in Chicago when?" asked Rogers.

"I was due there on the first Monday in August, 1906."

The court said that that was the sixth of August.

"And you arrive in Chicago when you were due?"

"The night before."

"You arrived on the night of the fifth?"

"Yes."

WAS GIVEN BRIBE BY GALLAGHER.

"And you say Gallagher paid you before you left?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"On the first of August."

"When?"

"On the McAllister street side of the city hall."

"When was the second amount given you?"

"When I returned home."

"Where was that?"

"At the supervisors' room."

"Was that any street car service here at that time?"

"So far as my knowledge goes there was none."

"Do you remember the first trolley car that ran after the fire?"

"Yes."

"Did you see the crowds that watched the car?"

"I did not see them. I read of it in the papers."

"Did you believe the people of San Francisco wanted the overhead trolley system then?"

"I was satisfied that they did."

"You remember the committee of Fifty?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did the committee of Fifty offer any opposition to the permit?"

"No, sir."

"Do you remember how the company went to work to put in the trolley after their permit had been granted?"

"Henry asked me not to show the commission of Fifty the money."

"Did you remember the first trolley car that ran after the fire?"

"Yes."

"Did you see the crowds that watched the car?"

"I did not see them. I read of it in the papers."

"Did you believe the people of San Francisco wanted the overhead trolley system then?"

"I was satisfied that they did."

"You remember the committee of Fifty?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did the committee of Fifty offer any opposition to the permit?"

"No, sir."

"Do you remember how the company went to work to put in the trolley after their permit had been granted?"

"Henry asked me not to show the commission of Fifty the money."

Henry said the indictment specifically set forth the time of the passage of the ordinance and the repassage of it.

COMPANY RAN ITS CARS FREE.

Rogers said in view of Henry's statement he would ask questions on the subject to the date of June 11. He then asked a question, and asked if the witness had received any money from the company for running the cars free. The witness said he had, of his own observation, noticed the cars running free.

"Do you know," asked Rogers, "that the company ran its cars free in those days?"

"I do."

"Do you remember that the company turned in its receipts to the committee of Fifty?"

"I do not know, but I was given to understand that they did."

"Never mind what you understand," said Rogers.

"Do you remember that the company had shown to the committee of Fifty a list of the cars that it owned and that it ought not to be forgotten that the company had given a great deal toward the relief of the city. Besides the company had given to the committee the receipts of the cars for some time."

"The money which you say the company gave the city amounted to how much?"

"About $60,000, I think."

"Didn't it amount to about $75,000?"

"It possibly did. It was a good sum."

"When the company feed people at that time?"

"They had an eating place and fed their own men and a number of others. I was glad to get a lunch there."

"Who else took a lunch there?"

"Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Ruef were with me."

"Was it there you met Mr. Calhoun?"

"Yes."

"Was there any talk about the trolley franchise?"

"No."

WOULD HAVE VOTED FOR THE FRANCHISE

"You would have voted for the franchise anyway, would you?" asked Rogers.

"I certainly would."

Henry then examined.

"Did you go to the United Railroads and tell any of its representatives that it was a shame for you and the other supervisors to take the money you and they had taken?"

"I did not."

"Did you go to the United Railroads before the passage of the ordinance and tell them you were in favor of the overhead trolley franchise?"

"No, sir; I did not. I was on record."

"About how many of the Mullally dinners did you attend?"

"Not any more than I have already told you."

"Did you," asked Henry, "examine the tracks on Market street after the fire?"

"Not very closely," was the reply.

"Did you notice whether they were running on the old tracks or whether the cable could be used?"

"I did not."

"Did you notice whether or not the old tracks were in good condition?"

"I did not."

The witness was then turned over to Rogers and that gentleman asked in a sarcastic manner:

"You did not go down into the tube and examine their condition, did you?"

"It will not be necessary for you to prove that by the witness, Mr. Rogers," said Henry.

The witness was then excused.

HARRIGAN TELLS TALE OF HIS BOODLING.

C. J. Harrigan took the stand when Coleman was excused.

"Were you a member of the former board of supervisors?" asked Henry.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"When did you first hear the United Railroads desired an overhead trolley franchise?"

"Shortly after the fire."

"Was it a member of the board who told you?"

"Yes."

"What was said?"

"It was told there was some money in it for me."

"How much?"

"Four or five thousand dollars."

"Did you vote for its passage to print?"

"I did."

"Did you subsequently receive any money for your vote?"

"Yes."

"Who from?"

"James L. Gallagher," replied the witness.

He also testified that the money was in small bills and that the first payment was in small bills. He stated that the second payment was in larger bills and it was $2000.

NEVER MET FORD OR PATRICK CALHOUN.

"Did you ever meet T. L. Ford?"

"Never saw the gentleman," replied the witness.

He also denied ever meeting either Calhoun, Ford or Abbott.

"Did any one from the United Railroads appear before the board at the time the trolley matter came up?"

"No, sir. I don't think so."

"Take the witness," said Henry.

"Now, Mr. Harrigan, you know that when the matter came up everyone wanted a franchise, everyone wanted a new street car system, didn't they?"

"Yes, I believe so."

"You would have voted for it anyway, would you?"

"Yes, sir."

"It would have passed anyway, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, sir, I think it would."

After a few unimportant questions he was excused.

James F. Kelly, another of the immunities washed supervisors, was then called.

"Mr. Kelly, how have you lived in San Francisco?" asked Henry.

"About twenty-four years."

He went on to testify that he was a member of the old board of supervisors.

"When did you first hear of the trolley franchise?" asked Henry.

"It was in April, 1906."

"Who spoke to you about it first?"

"Mr. Gallagher."

FAVORED BILL AND WOULD VOTE FOR IT.

Continuing Kelly said he told Gallagher that he favored the passing of the bill and would vote for it.

"Did you receive any money for it?"

"Yes, sir."

"In how many payments?"

"In two."

He stated the bills in the first payment were small and amounted to $2000. He said the bills in the second payment were of larger denomination and also amounted to $2000.

With a marked accent he told his story and while admitting he was bribed for his vote in the trolley franchise he stoutly maintained that he would have voted for the franchise under any circumstances. "These statements by the hoodlums that they would have voted for the franchise even though they had not been bribed, caused a display of ill-temper from the prosecutor, who was evidently nettled by the statement."

Rogers scored in many ways. When Henry turned the witness over to the defense, he asked him regarding the attitude of the supervisors toward the trolley franchise, and asked how the supervisors favored the franchise.

"Then there was a universal demand for a street car system, wasn't there?" asked Rogers.

"There was. That was the desire of the people in and about the board rooms," answered Kelly.

"You would have voted for the ordinance in any event, wouldn't you?"

"I certainly would."

Rogers then read an extract from Kelly's testimony before the grand jury to the effect that Henry had asked him what was the sentiment of the supervisors regarding the ordinance and the witness had replied that it seemed to be favorable to the ordinance.

"Did you so testify?" asked Rogers.

"I did," replied Kelly.

CONFESED AFTER IMMUNITY PROMISE.

"You had been promised immunity before you confessed?"

"Yes."

"Did you go down to the Gladstone Apartments and make some kind of confession?"

"I did."

"But before going there you had been given a promise of immunity?"

"I had."

In indirect by Henry references was again made to Kelly's evidence before the grand jury. The answer of the witness showed he understood money was coming through Gallagher for votes on the trolley franchise.

"Do you know T. L. Ford?"

"I do."

"Did he appear before the committee of the supervisors on the franchise?"

"He did."

"Did you ever meet Mr. Calhoun?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever talk to anybody from

TOLD HIM THERE WAS $5000 FOR HIM.

"Who first spoke to you about the franchise?"

"I believe it was James L. Gallagher."

"And did you understand that there was any money in it for you?"

"Yes, $4000 or $5000."

"Did you have any talk with Mr. Ruef about the matter?"

"Yes, I did."

The conversation that you had with Mr. Ruef, where did that take place?"

"I saw Mr. Ruef almost daily and for that reason I can't place the exact place."

"Was this talk before the final passage of the ordinance on June 11?"

"I can't recall. It may have been, or it may have been after the passing of the ordinance on June 11."

"Did you have any further conversation with Mr. Gallagher about this matter?"

"No, sir; it was not necessary. I had declared myself, and that was all that was necessary."

"When did you see him first?"

"I think it was in the city hall in 1905. It was in connection with the three-cent fare."

"Did Mr. Ford address the committee?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he appear more than once?"

"Yes, sir. The committee had several meetings."

RUEF WAS NOT BEFORE COMMITTEE.

"Did Mr. Ruef appear before the committee?"

"No, sir."

"Did you meet Ford again?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever meet Mr. Mullally?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where did you meet him?"

"I think it was at the car barn."

"Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Mullally about the trolley matter?"

"It may have come up in general conversation."

He went on to say that he had been a visitor at Mullally's house, but he could not recall who was present. Rogers asked, but was overruled.

"When were you there?" asked Judge Lawlor.

"I can't recall," said Coleman.

"Was it after June 11?" questioned Henry.

"It may have been."

"What was the occasion of your first visit?"

"Well, I think I was in an automobile with Mr. Ruef and just dropped in with him. There was Mr. Mullally and Mr. Ruef and Mr. Gallagher."

He could not recall whether or not the trolley ordinance had been passed. He stated that the ordinance was not discussed in any way at the time.

"Did you ever meet Patrick Calhoun?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where was that?"

"At the car barn."

"Was this meeting prior to the passage of the ordinance in 1905?"

NEVER TALKED WITH CALHOUN ABOUT IT.

"I don't remember."

"Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Calhoun about the trolley matter?"

"No, sir."

"Did you have any talk with Mr. Ford about the trolley matter?"

"No, sir."

"Did you receive any money for your vote on the trolley matter?"

"Yes, sir. I received first $2000 and later another $2000."

"What kind of currency?"

"It was small, ones and twos, and other small bills."

"Who gave you the second installment?" asked Henry.

"James L. Gallagher."

"In what denominations was that?"

"Nearly all $100 bills."

"Do you remember whether you attended any Sunday night caucuses about the trolley ordinance?"

"My recollection on that is not good."

"You voted for the ordinance?"

"Yes."

"Did any officer of the United Railroads appear before the board at the time?"

"I don't think any of them appeared."

"Were any arguments made on the ordinance?"

"Yes, I think Gallagher, Wilson and myself spoke about it."

"On the day the ordinance came up on passage to print, did you see a copy of the ordinance?" asked Henry.

The witness was shown a copy of the document.

"Have you ever seen that?"

"I can't say that I did."

SAID COMPANY WAS TO BE COMMENDED

Rogers in cross-examination asked:

"You were in favor of the ordinance?"

"Yes, many people came to me and recommended it."

"They recommended it?"

"Yes, they said it was a better system than the old cable system. That the disposition the company had shown to help San Francisco was to be commended and that it ought not to be forgotten that the company had given a great deal toward the relief of the city. Besides the company had given to the committee the receipts of the cars for some time."

"The money which you say the company gave the city amounted to how much?"

"About $60,000, I think."

"Didn't it amount to about $75,000?"

"It possibly did. It was a good sum."

"When the company feed people at that time?"

"They had an eating place and fed their own men and a number of others. I was glad to get a lunch there."

"Who else took a lunch there?"

"Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Ruef were with me."

"Was it there you met Mr. Calhoun?"

"Yes."

"Was there any talk about the trolley franchise?"

"No."

PHILLIPS TAKES THE STAND JAUNTILY.

With a bright red tie and checkered suit, the hoodlum took the witness stand in an off-hand manner.

He stated he was a member of the old board of supervisors and that he had heard of the application of the United Railroads shortly after the fire.

"Who first spoke to you about it?" asked Henry.

"Mr. James L. Gallagher," said the witness.

"State what he said to you as near as possible."

Phillips then went on to say that Gallagher told him that there was $5000 in it for him and that he would favor it.

"Did you later learn that there was less than that amount in it for you?"

"I don't know."

He stated that this was only before the final passage of the bill.

"Did you vote for it for passage to print the first time?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you voted for its final passage?"

"Yes, sir."

"In how many payments did you receive your money?"

"In two payments."

"How much in the first payment?"

"$2000," he was asked.

"From Mr. Gallagher."

RECEIVED BOODLE FROM GALLAGHER.

He went on to say that he thought the money in the first package was in small bills, although he was not sure whether it was the first or second package.

"Did you receive any other payments from Mr. Gallagher on any other matters?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know Mr. T. L. Ford?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you first meet him?"

"Shortly before the fire."

"On what occasion?"

"He appeared before the board."

"Had you met him so as to have any talk with him before he appeared before the street committee?"

"No, sir."

"Did you meet Mr. Ford at any time after the fire and before the trolley franchise was finally passed to print?"

"No, sir."

"On what occasion?"

"It was at a luncheon at the car barns."

"Did you ever have a talk with Mr. Calhoun or Mullally about the trolley franchise?"

"No, sir."

"Did anybody connected with the United Railroads speak to you about the trolley franchise?"

"No, sir."

"Take the witness," said Henry.

"For the first time A. A. Moore rose for the defense and began the examination."

ASKS ABOUT THAT CARBARN LUNCH.

"Did I understand you to say that you knew Mr. Ford that you knew him slightly?" asked Moore. "I also understood that you met Mr. Calhoun at a luncheon at the car barns."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, tell us something about that luncheon."

"Oh, it was just an ordinary luncheon."

"How many people were there?"

Moore asked.

"I think about ten or twelve."

WAS IN FAVOR OF TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

"You were in favor of the trolley franchise?"

"Yes, I have been in favor of it since long before the fire. I have seen it in Salt Lake."

"From the standpoint of your constituents you thought it was a good thing and voted for it?"

"Yes."

"You know Mr. Sprockels wanted an electric street car franchise, didn't you?"

"I think I saw it in the paper."

"Did Mr. Gallagher give you a promise before he paid you the money?"

"Yes. He said the ordinance was before the board and there was $5000 in it for me."

"Did he tell you he had talked to Ruef about it?"

"No."

"Was any person present when you were promised money?"

"No."

"You say you would have voted for the trolley in all events?"

"I certainly would."

"There were people present when the ordinance was passed to print?"

"Not enough to attract attention."

"You have been indicted by the grand jury?"

"Yes."

"How long has your case been pending?"

"Since last November."

"You have never been tried?"

"No."

"You understand you are to receive immunity in this case?"

"Yes."

"You were indicted for something else?"

"Yes."

On redirect, Henry asked.

"You saw the overhead trolley in Salt Lake?"

"I got there at night. I was attracted by the light."

"Did you go to New York and see the underground conduit, which Mr. Sprockels wanted to put in and about which Mr. Rogers knows nothing?"

"I did not."

"Did you see the underground conduit system in Washington?"

"Yes."

"It costs a good deal of money to put in such a road, doesn't it?"

"I don't know what it costs."

"Didn't the Sutter and Larkin streets line apply for an overhead trolley franchise before the fire?"

"I don't remember."

"Did you tell anyone before the fire that you favored the overhead trolley?"

"No, I don't think so."

"Take the witness," said Henry.

"You say you rode in the underground in Washington, D. C.?"

"Yes, sir."

"How did it strike you?"

"Oh! it seemed to me pretty nice."

After a few more stereotyped questions he was excused and Jennings J. Phillips, another of the ex-supervisors was called.

PHILLIPS TAKES THE STAND JAUNTILY.

With a bright red tie and checkered suit, the hoodlum took the witness stand in an off-hand manner.

He stated he was a member of the old board of supervisors and that he had heard of the application of the United Railroads shortly after the fire.

"Who first spoke to you about it?" asked Henry.

"Mr. James L. Gallagher," said the witness.

"State what he said to you as near as possible."

Phillips then went on to say that Gallagher told him that there was $5000 in it for him and that he would favor it.

"Did you later learn that there was less than that amount in it for you?"

"I don't know."

He stated that this was only before the final passage of the bill.

"Did you vote for it for passage to print the first time?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you voted for its final passage?"

"Yes, sir."

"In how many payments did you receive your money?"

"In two payments."

"How much in the first payment?"

"$2000," he was asked.

"From Mr. Gallagher."

RECEIVED BOODLE FROM GALLAGHER.

He went on to say that he thought the money in the first package was in small bills, although he was not sure whether it was the first or second package.

"Did you receive any other payments from Mr. Gallagher on any other matters?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know Mr. T. L. Ford?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you first meet him?"

"Shortly before the fire."

"On what occasion?"

"He appeared before the board."

"Had you met him so as to have any talk with him before he appeared before the street committee?"

"No, sir."

"Did you meet Mr. Ford at any time after the fire and before the trolley franchise was finally passed to print?"

"No, sir."

"On what occasion?"

"It was at a luncheon at the car barns."

"Did you ever have a talk with Mr. Calhoun or Mullally about the trolley franchise?"

"No, sir."

"Did anybody connected with the United Railroads speak to you about the trolley franchise?"

"No, sir."

"Take the witness," said Henry.

"For the first time A. A. Moore rose for the defense and began the examination."

ASKS ABOUT THAT CARBARN LUNCH.

"Did I understand you to say that you knew Mr. Ford that you knew him slightly?" asked Moore. "I also understood that you met Mr. Calhoun at a luncheon at the car barns."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, tell us something about that luncheon."

"Oh, it was just an ordinary luncheon."

"How many people were there?"

Moore asked.

"I think about ten or twelve."

WAS IN FAVOR OF TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

"You were in favor of the trolley franchise?"

"Yes, I have been in favor of it since long before the fire. I have seen it in Salt Lake."

"From the standpoint of your constituents you thought it was a good thing and voted for it?"

"Yes."

"You know Mr. Sprockels wanted an electric street car franchise, didn't you?"

"I think I saw it in the paper."

"Did Mr. Gallagher give you a promise before he paid you the money?"

"Yes. He said the ordinance was before the board and there was $5000 in it for me."

"Did he tell you he had talked to Ruef about it?"

"No."

"Was any person present when you were promised money?"

"No."

"You say you would have voted for the trolley in all events?"

"I certainly would."

"There were people present when the ordinance was passed to print?"

"Not enough to attract attention."

"You have been indicted by the grand jury?"

"Yes."

"How long has your case been pending?"

"Since last November."

"You have never been tried?"

"No."

"You understand you are to receive immunity in this case?"

"Yes."

"You were indicted for something else?"

"Yes."

On redirect, Henry asked.

RICH REWARD FOR ENGINEER

Saved Woman's Life and Is Given a Check for $10,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—A Tribune special from Kendall, Wis., says John Franklin, a Northwestern engineer, running between here and Sparta, has received a check for $10,000 with a promise of another for saving the life of a woman at Devil's Lake a few weeks ago. Franklin with his wife was spending a few days at the lake. At the same time William Peterson, a wealthy Chicago man with his wife and daughter and Miss Jenkins, a sister-in-law also was encamped at the lake. One morning while out in a boat the girls and Mrs. Jenkins rowed over to a spring to drink. As Miss Jenkins attempted to get back into the boat she slipped falling into the water. The impact drove the craft from shore and although she managed to get hold of the boat, she could not draw herself from the water. It took several minutes just as her strength was about failing her. Miss Jenkins was one of the few who escaped from the Iroquois Theater holocaust in Chicago and says she fears she is to die a violent death.

Only Been at Work 3 Days and Am Goin'
to Be Promoted

How a thing is done and Mr. McLaughlin had a notion to talk yesterday and he says that all the employees of that store are advanced as their ability will permit. Then he looked at me and I of course turned red and blushed but he said my promotion was because I spilled a quart of muckage and put red ink in the black ink well and that he would promote me instead of firing me, as he really thought I had it in me to make a good thing clerk, (some day). So next week I am to try my hand in the Juvenile Department and work in the youths' sizes—14 to 20 years—because I wear long pants now, and they are going to use me as a model for that department.

Any old kind of a job suits me so I don't have to press brick for Street and Walk.

Watch me next week in my new long pant suit. WILLIE with

SOCRATES HUFF, PIONEER, ANSWERS DEATH SUMMONS

THE LATE SOCRATES HUFF.

Noted Banker and Revered Citizen Passes Away at San Leandro Home.

At 12:35 this morning the long and useful life of Socrates Huff, one of Alameda County's earliest settlers and most revered citizens, came to a peaceful close at the end of a long period of sickness and in the fullness of years at his residence on Estudillo avenue, San Leandro. He passed his eightieth birthday on July 1st but through his long life until a year or so ago he took an active interest in all business affairs with which he was identified. No citizen in Alameda County was more highly respected. He was a man of the highest type of character, and of sterling integrity in all of the walks of life. In business his word was as good and trustworthy as a bond. In public as well as in private life he was held in the highest esteem for uprightness and irreproachability of character. His reputation was unblemished and every body who knew him reposed the utmost confidence in him.

NATIVE OF OHIO.
Socrates Huff was born in Crawford county, Ohio July 1, 1827. In 1829 his parents moved to St. Joseph, Michigan, being among the early settlers in that section, where he lived until the discovery of gold in California. When the news of this discovery was confirmed Mr. Huff and his brother and four others put out for the new El Dorado in February, 1849, which they reached on August 12, 1849, after many hardships, locating on Bear river. Mr. Huff was first successful in placer mining, but thinking business more profitable he proceeded to Sacramento, where he was interested in business for a short time. After a brief stay at Sacramento he moved to Alameda county, remaining here the rest of his life.

SETTLES IN SAN LEANDRO.
He went East in 1852 and a year later returned to this State by the overland route again. In 1859 he settled in San Leandro which has since been the home of himself and his family.

In 1858 Mr. Huff was elected treasurer of Alameda County. He filled this position with the greatest fidelity for the following four years. Then he retired temporarily from public life to devote his time to his farming and real estate interests. He became identified at an early day with the organization and development of banking in Alameda County as one of the organizers and directors of the Union Savings Bank in Oakland. He continued to be actively identified with banking in Alameda County.

up to the time of his death. He was the organizer and president of the San Leandro Bank, an institution which was a success from the start and which under his careful and able management has made wonderful progress and is counted as one of the most stable financial institutions in the county.

INTEREST IN POLITICS.
After retiring from the office of County Treasurer in 1867, Mr. Huff retained his interest in politics, and was chosen as a delegate from this State to the National Republican convention held at Chicago in 1880 at which the married President Garfield was nominated.

In 1886, Socrates Huff was recalled to the County Treasurership. He was subsequently re-elected in 1888 and 1890 and could have had a nomination in 1892 if he had so desired for the name of County Treasurer Huff was recognized throughout the county as the synonym of honesty and fidelity to a great public trust. From that time on, however, he gave himself up to his private affairs—the care of his farming and real estate and insurance interest and the upbuilding of the San Leandro Bank.

WAS WIDOWER.
Socrates Huff's death was preceded about a year ago by that of his wife. They were the parents of seven daughters five of whom survive. Mrs. J. P. Sloane of Spokane Wash. Mrs. Orrin P. Downing of San Francisco and Misses Jennie, Carrie and Mamie Huff, who reside at the family home at San Leandro, side at the family home at San Leandro, Mrs. Bush Fennell of San Francisco.

Mr. Huff was a member of no other organization save that of the Society of California Pioneers, of which he was at the time of death first vice president. The funeral services will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon at the family residence and the body will be interred at Mountain View cemetery. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed up to a late hour this afternoon, but it will, doubtless, be in charge of the Pioneer Society from whom the majority of the pull bearers are likely to be drawn.

Carpenter Falls From Third Story of Building

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Joseph Liederadski, a carpenter living at 360 Presidio avenue, was severely injured at 10 o'clock this morning by falling two stories from a building in course of construction at Seventeenth and Uranus streets.

Liederadski was working on the third floor of the building when he lost his balance and fell to the ground below, landing on his back. He was removed to the Park Hospital where it was found he has sustained internal injuries and severe bruises. He has a chance of recovery.

HOOK BROS. WILL PROVE IT

Tribune Advertising Brings Large Results.

One of the many illustrations of the benefit derived from advertising in the columns of THE TRIBUNE is demonstrated by the excellent results achieved by the Hook Brothers Furniture Company on last Saturday afternoon and evening in a special rug sale. The sale was to take place from 4 to 10 p.m., but long before the latter hour every rug on sale was sold and this result was obtained by a display advertisement which appeared in THE TRIBUNE last Friday. J. B. Frederick, the manager for the big furniture house of Hook Brothers stated yesterday that THE TRIBUNE was a great advertising medium—that in every instance when his firm advertised special in THE TRIBUNE, this paper was the means of selling every article put on sale. This is only one instance of many that kind words have been said of THE TRIBUNE by the patrons of its columns.

BOODLING SUPERVISORS ARE GRILLED BY EARL ROGERS

"Do you say the money was paid to you before the final passage?" asked Moore.

"I cannot fix dates," said Phillips, "but it is my best recollection that it was after the vote."

"How is it that your memory is so bad regarding dates? Is your memory for dates very poor?"

"Yes, it is."

"What did you do with the money when you got it?"

"I put it in the safe deposit vault," Moore's questioning revealed nothing but that the money of the witness was poor and less accurate than that of any other witness that had taken the stand in this case. Moore sought to have the boddler fix the date he received the bribe, but failed. He was excused.

BOXTON AGAIN TELLS OF HIS SHAME.

Ex-Supervisor Dr. Charles Boxton was the next witness. He was examined by Henry. He had been a member of the Board of Supervisors since 1900.

"When, in 1900 did you first hear that the United Railroads wanted to build an overhead trolley?"

"The first I knew of it was when application was filed with the board. I voted for it."

"Did you receive money for voting?"

"I received money."

"From whom?"

"James L. Gallagher."

"Have you any means of fixing the time you received the money?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"A package containing $2000."

"In what denomination?"

"From one to twenty dollars."

"Was it delivered to you by Gallagher in a bag?"

"He left it on the seat."

"You took it up?"

"Yes."

"When was the next amount paid?"

"Some time later."

"Are you acquainted with Tiley L. Ford?"

"Yes."

"Are you well acquainted with him?"

"I have met him for a number of years as a public man."

"Was there an application of the Sutter street people for a trolley road?"

"I think there was. It was before the committee."

"Were you on any committee that had the three-cent fare question before it?"

"No."

"Did not talk with Calhoun?"

"Did you have a talk on any subject with Patrick Calhoun?"

"No."

"Did you ever have lunch at a car barn?"

"Yes."

"Were there any supervisors there?"

"Yes."

"Was Mr. Calhoun there?"

"Yes."

"Was Mr. Mulhally there?"

"I think he was."

"Did you speak to Mr. Calhoun?"

"I was introduced to him."

"Did you speak to Mr. Mulhally?"

"I did not."

"Did you ever speak to Mr. Calhoun about this trolley franchise before or after the passage of the ordinance?"

"No."

"Have you ever met Mr. Abbott?"

"Yes."

"Is he a native son of California?"

"I believe he is."

"You have met him as such?"

"Yes, I think I have met him at grand meetings of the order."

"Is Tracy L. Ford a native son?"

"I think he is," interrupted Rogers, Burns and others were there.

"When Mr. Ford was born in Missouri?"

"I will admit, then," said Henry, "that he is not a native."

"Did you," resumed Mr. Henry, "ever have a talk with Mr. Ford regarding this ordinance?"

"I did not."

"Did you ever have a talk with any of the officers of the United Railroads or any person purporting to represent them, regarding the passage of the trolley franchise?"

"I did not."

An adjournment was taken until two o'clock this afternoon with Boxton still on the witness stand.

AFTERNOON SESSION

When court reconvened this afternoon the cross-examination of Dr. Charles Boxton, the ex-supervisor, was undertaken by Rogers.

The witness said he had graduated in dentistry in 1893 and had practically practiced all the time until the fire. He had been a volunteer in the First California Regiment to the Philippines. He was one of the organizers of the Dental College.

"When did you go into politics?"

"In 1900. I have been a supervisor four terms."

"On what committees have you been?"

"I can't recall them. But I have served on all of them."

"Mr. Henry asked you when you first heard the United Railroads wanted an overhead trolley and you answered 'When the application was filed with the supervisors.'"

"Yes. That was before the fire."

"That went to a committee and remained there?"

"I think it did."

"When did you first hear of the franchise granted after the fire?"

"Soon after the introduction."

"What were the conditions of the street railway business after the fire?"

"There were no cars running. The power houses were destroyed."

"The United Railroads wanted to restore the service. Were you in favor of it?"

"I certainly was."

"Were you an opponent of the trolley system?"

"No."

NOT PARTICULAR AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE FIRE.

"Before the fire I was in favor of the best possible service. After the fire I would have been satisfied with anything, even cables."

"Did you hear of any opposition to the overhead trolley?"

"I did not."

"Did you know of the committee of fifty?"

"Yes."

"Did you hear of the committee any opposition to the trolley?"

"I did not."

"Do you know Rudolph Spreckels?"

"I have known him a number of years."

"Did you meet Mr. Spreckels in February of 1907?"

"I could not say."

"Did you ever ride in an automobile with him?"

"No."

"Do you know where the home of Mr. Rogers is?"

"I don't think I could go to it now. It is on Laguna street near Sutter."

"When did you come to see Mr. Rogers' home?"

"Mr. Rogers telephoned me."

"Did you go to his home?"

"Yes, I went there."

"You had been there previously?"

WOMAN SAYS MALE ENEMY CAUSE OF SEVERE SHOCK

Declares Unborn Child Was Permanently Injured by Stress of Trouble With Rival Boatman.

Testimony is being taken in Judge Ellisworth's court in the case of Florence M. Conrad vs. Charles W. Radwitz, whom she charges with malicious prosecution.

Radwitz and the Conrad woman, who are engaged in competitive boat-renting business in Alameda, had so many disagreements and unneighborly quarrels that they finally decided to take the case to court.

Radwitz charged Mrs. Conrad with disturbing the peace.

On account of excitement attendant upon the case Mrs. Conrad alleges that she was overtaken by a premature labor and her child, nearly cost her life. She further claims that Radwitz, with malice aforethought, jumped from a dark corner at night and frightened her so that she lost her health.

In her testimony this morning Mrs. Conrad stated that she was entirely innocent of the charges made by Radwitz in the police affidavit, when he claimed that she had called him vile names and threatened to blow up his establishment.

BOXTON TOLD OF THE ROY INCIDENT.

Boxton then went on to tell how he had been offered $500 and how he had accepted it.

"Did you know that you were observed on that occasion?" asked Rogers.

"No, sir."

"Did you know that Mr. Spreckels was looking over the trolley?"

"No, sir."

"Well, when Roy gave you this money, did he take it off a gold-sized roll?"

"Yes."

"And you didn't know that Mr. Spreckels was looking through the trolley?"

"No, and I don't know it yet."

"Well, later Roy told you that it was up?"

"No. But later Roy called me up and I went down to his house. He called me into the parlor and told me it was all off."

"Was Mr. Spreckels there?" asked Rogers.

"Then Roy told me that it was all off and they wanted to see me. I asked him if they were there, and he said yes. Then I told him to show them in."

Rogers then questioned Boxton regarding an affidavit that Burns had had him draw up denying that he had confessed.

"They kept you there at the house some time, didn't they?" asked Rogers.

"Yes, sir. From 7 until after 12."

TELLS ABOUT HIS IMMUNITY CONTRACT.

He went on to say that he had then been promised immunity.

"Wasn't it suggested to you that you call a meeting of the board and get them to agree to this?" asked Rogers.

"I called the meeting because I thought it only fair to the board."

"Did you make your statement in writing?"

"It was taken down."

"I think it was Mr. Henry."

FEARS PLOT OF FRIENDS

Lives in Terror That Neighbors Are Conspiring to Ruin Her Character.

Miss Mary E. Cahill, a school teacher from Hayward, was taken to the Eberly hospital this morning.

Her brother, William P. Cahill, states that she is suffering from hallucinations, which threaten to undermine her reason.

She imagines that her friends and neighbors are conspiring against her to ruin her character and to undermine her reason.

According to the complaint she is subject to alternate attacks of melancholia and hysteria.

She is now in the hospital, where she will be kept for an examination, which will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 in Judge Justice's courtroom.

FALLING BEAM KILLS WORKMAN

Frank Silva, a native of Portugal, was killed at the foot of the bridge this afternoon at 2 o'clock by a falling beam.

Silva was a longshoreman and was employed in loading lumber from barges onto flat cars.

While so doing, a sixty-foot timber fell on him and crushed his skull.

He was forty-five years of age and unmarried.

CLAIMS PASSENGER PASSED BOGUS CHECK

J. C. Clinkensbeard, a chauffeur, reports that M. J. Marks hired an auto from him this morning and after using it four hours gave him a check on a local bank for $20.

There are no funds in the bank to meet the check according to complainant and Marks was taken into custody.

CASE OF "JIM CROW" MEMBER IS PUT OVER

The case of George Cunningham, a member of the "Jim Crow" gang, now being tried in Department 1 of the Police Court, went over until Monday.

Frank Hart, charged with robbing Mrs. George Fredericks of several hundred dollars worth of jewelry, pleaded not guilty this morning and October 30th was set for day of trial.

TAKES DIAMOND RING.

Mrs. F. W. Baker of 525 Fifteenth street reported that some one robbed her rooms of a gold watch, several gold rings and a diamond ring worth about $600 while she was absent yesterday afternoon. The lock was picked.

ATTEND RECEPTION.

President F. W. Blizer and Secretary Stearns of the Chamber of Commerce, are in San Francisco this afternoon at a reception in Rear Admiral McCulloch and staff, held at California building by the Promotion Committee.

BIG CRUISERS DUE TOMORROW

Wireless Message Sent From Warship Colorado Giving Important News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—A wireless message received at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the United States naval training station on Goat Island from the cruiser Colorado, gave news of the close approach of the armored cruiser squadron under command of Rear Admiral Dayton and comprising the flagship West Virginia, the Maryland, the Colorado and the Pennsylvania.

The message was as follows: "Will arrive early tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. Uneventful voyage from Honolulu. All well. Ninety-nine men to be transferred to Mare Island and paid off immediately upon arrival."

TO ARRANGE WELCOME.

Officers of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association will meet this afternoon with the executive committee of the California Promotion Committee and arrange a program of welcome and entertainment for the officers and men of the four cruisers due tomorrow and the five cruisers already in this port.

A committee will call upon Admiral Dayton and submit this program to him for his approval or revision.

The cruiser squadron when it assembles upon the arrival of the four ships due will be composed of the armored cruisers West Virginia (flagship), Captain J. B. Milton; Maryland, Captain C. Thomas; Colorado, Captain S. A. Standley; Pennsylvania, Captain A. Ward; California, Captain T. S. Phelps; and the first class cruisers Charleston, Commander P. B. Deady; St. Louis, Commander N. R. Usher; and the third class cruisers Raleigh, Commander G. H. Peters, and Cincinnati, Commander J. G. Quinby.

They will arrive tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 10 o'clock.

Again the Burns Horribles.

The Burns ballet has made its appearance in the Ford trial. It was brought on during the Schmitz and Glass trials for spectacular effect, to excite prejudice, stimulate passion and advertise the vigilance and perspicuity of William J. Burns. Incidentally it gave Burns an opportunity to throw mud through the mendacious Call and the debauched Bulletin at everybody connected with or suspected of sympathizing with the defense. Moreover, it served to intimidate jurors and witnesses and divert attention from the despicable methods of the cloud of spies employed by Burns to dog and shadow people engaged in their legitimate occupations.

When Boodler Loneragan was caught in a tight place on the stand Burns turned on the red fire and started the grand divertissement the theme being a cock-and-bull plot to kidnap Loneragan and run him into the pound or hand him over to the soap-fat man. On the face of it the kidnapping story is an absurd fake but the clique has taken the cue and is shouting itself hoarse over the Burns 'Black Crook' show. The Spreckels organs are pelting the defense with all manner of dead cats and expetives.

The Burns method of aiding the prosecution is a disgrace to the administration of justice. Not only is it a violation of the canons of decency but it is an outrageous interference with the orderly processes of the law. Trev L. Ford who has heretofore borne an enviable reputation as an upright citizen and a public official above reproach is charged with the heinous crime of bribery. It giveth he should be punished but it innocent he should be vindicated and acquitted. In any event he is entitled to a fair trial, and a judgment on the evidence produced in court. The Burns fakes and the Burns ballet outside the court room are no part of the proceedings and are merely parts of a plan to secure convictions by irregular and reprehensible means. It is time these trick mule performances were stopped and the course of justice permitted to take its regular course unhindered and uninfluenced by outside diversion worked up with the aid of a gang of paid spies.

If there was any attempt to kidnap Loneragan the matter should be brought to the attention of the court and the guilty parties punished. If there was no such attempt Burns is himself guilty of contempt of court and of attempting to interfere with judicial process. In previous trials Burns systematically tried to discredit every witness and testified differently from what the prosecution desired. His myrmidons cathechized talesmen before they were called to the box and hounded witnesses for the defense with evident intent to intimidate them. A cohort of these worthies is present at every trial thrusting them elms into every conversation and pushing their napping ears wher ever a word is to be caught or a keyhole left unguarded.

That such things should be tolerated is a public shame. That the liberties of citizens of hitherto high repute should hang upon this sort of thing is a parody on the administration of justice. By presenting Loneragan as the intended victim of a kidnapping conspiracy Burns endeavors to make a reputable and credible witness of a self-admitted thief and liar. Such expedients exhibit an utter absence of moral perception and compunction also a total disregard for the principles of justice and fair play.

The San Francisco Harbor Commissioners have begun a war on persons who dump garbage and refuse in the bay. That is right. The practice of filling the bay with refuse should be stopped but there is a still greater evil that requires attention. The dumping of oil refuse in the bay does infinitely more harm than the dumping of vegetable refuse. Oil refuse kills the fish ruins the bathing resorts and menaces our lives and shipping with fire. It is against the law to dump it into navigable waters yet oil refuse is being discharged into the bay at many different points. The law should be strictly enforced and the dumping of oil refuse summarily stopped.

Again the story that Secretary Metcalf is to leave the Cabinet is authoritatively denied. There never was any foundation for it but nevertheless it has continued to appear from time to time. It originates with Secretary Metcalf's enemies chief among which is the shipbuilding trust. Ordering the fleet into the Pacific for a practice cruise provoked with all along the Atlantic Coast and set afloat across the story of disagreement between the President and the Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Metcalf is in entire accord with the President and there is not the slightest ground for the rumor that he intends leaving the Cabinet.

Intercollegiate Football Competition

Since intercollegiate football as it was called, was abolished by the faculties of California and Stanford, in common with the Eastern universities, because the game had developed into a case of supremacy dependent upon superiority of brute force, all of the American universities have been floundering for some form of a substitute that will hold the public interest and sustain the collegiate spirit. In the East they have been endeavoring to reform the old intercollegiate game through the adoption of rules which aimed to eliminate the brutalities which put the contests under a ban because of the numerous fatalities for which they had become responsible. The result has not been satisfactory, what is more, it has become self-evident that no revision of the game which will extract from it its former brutalities can make headway. This establishes the fact that the popularity of intercollegiate football was solely dependent upon those base instincts which prompted the Roman women in the ancient gladiatorial arena to call for more blood and the slaying of the conquered by the victor.

Since the faculties of the Universities of California and Stanford put their veto on intercollegiate football the coaches and trainers have been fishing for a substitute that will save their faces and what is immensely of greater importance to them their fat salaries. They, consequently, fell back on Rugby football as the most promising and that in the face of the fact that Rugby has lost caste in its own home and has long since been eclipsed by a game of football, which is football, pure and simple and entirely free from the charge of being brutal in any sense. The experiment has been a failure, as the true devotees of genuine football anticipated it would. But it will probably have to go through a season of longer trial before it is consigned to oblivion and the real thing in the way of football is adopted.

The crimes of intercollegiate football were always committed under a cover which no one could penetrate. They consisted of putting out of action the best men in the opposing teams without regard to the manner in which it was accomplished. The results were just what were sought. Neither the referee nor the umpire could tell what was going on in the mass play. It was enough that the under man came out maimed or dying or dead. While the deed was being done the rooters roared and the spectators on the bleachers applauded as the Roman matrons did when their thirst for gore was being satiated. And the professional newspaper reporters, as an expert at the business once said 'They took a chance on describing what it was impossible for them to see had occurred.'

But that is of no material consequence now, for intercollegiate football has gone for all time. The point at present is that Rugby is not a success as a substitute. Coaches and trainers are inexperienced and are naturally floundering. They are, however, making strenuous efforts to retain their lucrative jobs. They have visited Britain and New Zealand to study the game and they have come back with ideas to reform Rugby on the lines of the condemned intercollegiate game, lacking the moral courage to declare that the Rugby game is a back number in its own home and that a superior open game—association football—has displaced it in popular favor in both Great Britain and its colonies, because spectators as well as players and referees can see every move in the play as the ball is always in sight and always in motion. It is a game in which deception is difficult and detection easy—a game in which everything that is good in the players mentally and physically, is brought out in its fullest degree. In Great Britain, where a crowd of 3000 or 5000 will attend a Rugby game from 50,000 to 100,000 will swarm from all points of the United Kingdom to witness a contest of association football between two crack teams. That ought to be sufficient to prove the merits of the two forms of football.

For several years past efforts have been put forth in the neighborhood of this bay to establish association football. These efforts have been extended to the universities to adopt it. These institutions have shied at its adoption. Professional coaches and trainers have discouraged it. They have excited prejudice against it on the ground that it was distinctively British and yet they have encouraged the adoption of a distinctively inferior British form of football as a substitute for the abolished intercollegiate game which, withal, they do not understand. Meantime, outside of university circles the open game of association football has been steadily gaining popular favor and is spreading throughout this Far Western country taking possession of the preparatory schools, invading the student bodies of the academies and spreading throughout the Pacific States as far East as Utah. The sanity of the game as an outdoor sport its value as a developer of the physical and intellectual faculties of youths and its attractiveness to inexperienced spectators are gradually winning their way into public favor and sooner or later the student bodies of the universities will come to recognize it as the most desirable of university sports to adopt for intercollegiate contests. We are approaching the opening of a new season when a greater number of amateur clubs than ever before participated in competitions for supremacy will exemplify the game in the vicinity of San Francisco bay. Association football during the coming season ought to be productive of the best results.

Mr. Spreckels as Immunity Dispenser.

The truth is out at last if Big Jim Gallagher is to be believed. He testified, as a witness for the prosecution in the Ford trial, that the promise of immunity was given him by Rudolph Spreckels in his Presidio home. Gallagher said he understood that Ruef was also to have immunity. He also stated that Mr. Spreckels assured him there was nothing vindictive in the graft prosecution and that it was not desired to send any official to prison or get any boys, but that the public service corporations were the real objects of attack or to put it in Mr. Spreckels' words the irregular dealings of public service corporations with public officials. Without questioning the motives of Mr. Spreckels, it is legitimate to inquire what authority he had for offering immunity to boodlers on condition that they would testify against corporations and corporation managers? Putting aside the morality of making such a bargain to procure testimony, who clothed Mr. Spreckels with the power to override the statutes and conclude such an arrangement? It is true that Mr. Spreckels had raised a large fund ostensibly to defray the cost of prosecuting grafters and had employed a band of detectives ostensibly to obtain evidence against them, but he held no patent of authority recognized by the law. One of his first steps in the crusade, according to Gallagher, was to offer wholesale immunity to boodling officials in return for testimony against corporations. The immunity granted included a guarantee against indictment by the grand jury. Whence did Mr. Spreckels obtain his authority to control the actions of the grand jury and the District Attorney?

"When the Apple Reddens Never Pry Lest We Lose Our Eden, Eve and I"

"Where the apple reddens, never pry, lest we lose our Eden, Eve and I." If you once begin to doubt your friends and look for ulterior motives in all they do, you will always be unhappy, says Bessie Fairfax.

Don't always sit a pleasure to the very roots before you can begin to enjoy it. Take it for what it is worth, on its brightest side.

I know a girl who never can fully enjoy a kindness shown her because she is always afraid that the kindness is shown for some benefit to be gained by the person showing it.

It is a miserable characteristic, and she will never know any real happiness until she conquers it.

People are kind to you because they like you, and affection compels them to show you kindly attention.

Don't look for unpleasant surprises. Take life as happily as you can.

Sometimes if you look too deeply into a thing you will find that it has its unpleasant side, but unless you look for it it will never obtrude itself, so why look?

Why not go ahead contentedly seeking

Never Doubt Your Friends If You Want to Be Really And Truly Happy

happiness and closing your eyes to as much unpleasantness as you can? There is a great deal of sunshine for those who know where and how to look for it.

The person who always finds the bright side of things is a perpetual ray of sunshine in the house.

I would advise every young man who is thinking of getting married to make very sure that the partner of his future has a sunny, cheerful disposition.

To come home at the end of the day's toil and find a sweet-faced, happy wife waiting for you must make any man feel that life is well worth living.

But to come home and find a doleful, sad-faced wife, with a string of woes a yard long, that is discouraging enough to drive a man to any extreme.

No matter how pretty and capable you are, my dear girls, you must be cheerful as well or you will be failures as wives. Make it a habit to always see the nicest side of people and the brightest side of things, and you will be a blessing to the lucky man who wins you.

"Thank You," Says Winner of $20 Prize

OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland, Cal.—Gentlemen: I want to thank you for the honor you have bestowed upon me by awarding your prize to my letter, and I assure you I appreciate it highly. Thanking you very sincerely, LENA JOHNSTON.

Do Not Take Short, Choppy Steps When Walking, Ladies, Says an Authority

The ideal walk must be straight. Each step should measure the length of the foot apart. Do not take short, choppy steps. Remember that the short, indolent gait is not exercise; in fact, you are repeating little more than a minor action that takes place from the knee down.

No exercise is more health-producing than a long walk, governed by certain rules that must necessarily be observed. With the step draw in a deep breath, slowly exhaling.

The value of walking as an exercise and for good posture depends entirely upon using the correct position and taking deep, chest-expanding breaths.

First of all, see that your shoulders drop straight back.

Lift your feet neatly. Some women shuffle along and never seem to lift their feet at all. Walking, which goes with household work, that done during the hours when in the shop or office, when the brain is occupied, is not true walking.

About the same may be said of the kind of walking in which the feet feel as heavy as lead and the mind is concerned with every care and worry of the passing moment.

Regulate the length of your step by your height.

SOCIETY GOSSIP

One of the merriest dancing parties of the season was given last night at the Home Club, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grant, who are shortly to leave for their home in New York.

The guests of honor have been visiting for some time at the home of Mr. Grant's parents in Highland Park, and have taken a very active part in the social life of the city during their stay. They have been entertained at many notable gatherings, one of which was the opening luncheon of Ebell, where they shared the honors with Congressman and Mrs. J. R. Knowland. Mr. Grant is well known in literary circles throughout the East.

Last night's affair was given by a group of nine young men who have taken much pleasure in their acquaintance with the brilliant New York man and his wife. Each of the hosts invited a dozen or more friends, and the large dancing room held about one hundred and twenty guests, when all had assembled in the big dancing room. A number of ladies assisted in the arrangements of the evening, but the men made capital hosts and are being warmly congratulated on their success.

The hosts of the evening were Ely C. Hutchinson, Kenneth Kerr, James Ireland, Kenneth Grant, Dr. Louis Lohse, Walter Crowell, Arthur Corcoran, Dr. Herbert Allen, and Dr. C. F. Jarvis.

THIMBLE BEE.

About twenty guests of the younger set will be present on Friday at the afternoon affair planned by Mrs. J. A. Stanley in compliment to Miss Bessie Coghill. The guests will include the young ladies whom Miss Coghill has chosen for her bridal party. Miss Florence Treadwell, Miss Alice Hoyt, Miss Edna Prather, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Fay Chapman, Miss Sevilla Haydon and Miss Mattie Treason, Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Jessie Fox, Miss Anita Thomson, Mrs. J. P. Neville, Miss Florine Brown, Mrs. Lillian Brown, Mrs. Everts, Mrs. T. B. Coghill and Miss Harvey.

The girls are to bring dainty needlework, in accordance with the pretty custom now so popular and will spend a very pleasant afternoon.

THE CARNIVAL.

Yesterday was a most successful day for Fabiola at the carnival. Mrs. Harry Bishop was the hostess of the day, and many friends came to the booth during the day and the evening for Mrs. Bishop is very popular, and had a number of well known maids and matrons in her group of assistants.

Today Mrs. Oscar Fitzalan Long was hostess, and with her a most interesting group of ladies worked for the interests of Fabiola. Mrs. Long's party included: Mrs. Robert Augustus Bray, Mrs. M. L. Reana, Mrs. Edward Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Bull Fyning, Mrs. Dennis Seales, Mrs. Frederick E. Magee, Mrs. Charles T.

China's Women Fall Victim of Modern Fashion

The Chinese woman has fallen a victim to Dame Fashion. A London correspondent says that it is not unlikely that in a few years the sight of a Chinese woman in the latest Parisian models will be as common as it is now unusual.

The advocates of dress reform will find food for thought in this change. The new woman in China will not swathe her feet in bandages until they are so dwarfed that walking is almost impossible. Neither will she allow her fingers nails to grow forever. But in ridding herself of these two things, she is adopting the corset, and will fall heir to all the dread suffering that medical people assert follows its use.

A Plea to Fate.

O Fate, I ask of thee but this, From all thy varied stores Give me to work with all my heart Till I can work no more; And when my task I must lay down, At life's slow set of sun, Grant me the sleep, serene and sweet, That comes from work well done.

So many strive to scale fame's height, To set the floods on fire, That there is need of modest souls More humbly to aspire. So this the plea I make mine own, Give me the spirit true, That knows the work its own reward, And asks but more to do! —John Coleman.

HORSEWHIP IS A GOOD CURE

PATTERSON, N. J., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Mary Mitchell was, with the aid of a horsewhip, undertaken to rid her husband of the affliction whom he declared he could not "shake."

Mrs. Mitchell is thirty and slender, but what she lacks in avoirdupois she makes up in nervous energy. When she earned through a note, accidentally discovered, that her husband, a turf speculator and former owner of race horses, was playing the role of soul-mate to Miss Annie Rooney, a plump and luscious blonde, she resolved to take matters into her own hands.

The note, which was from Miss Rooney, asked Mitchell to meet her at Main and Market streets. Mrs. Mitchell took it upon herself to keep the appointment. When Miss Rooney came along the wife wasted no words; she applied the whip. When Mrs. Mitchell taxed her husband with his misdeeds he admitted everything, but said he could not get rid of Miss Rooney. The blonde, smarting under her injuries, had Mrs. Mitchell summoned to court on a charge of assault and battery. After Recorder Carroll had discharged her, Mrs. Mitchell turned on her rival and demanded her arrest.

"Better stick to your horsewhipping," advised the court gently.

Mitchell was ruled off the track four years, ago for trying to introduce a "ringer."

him, he takes a very different view of the subject. But that's another story. To begin with, it seems to him charming and romantic and alluring for a woman to be full of whims and contradictions and illogical opinions, and beside her the girl who is plain matter of fact and commonsensical seems like bread and butter beside an omelette soufflé; and so, as human nature always prefers the luxuries to the necessities of life, a man, unless he is a genius of common sense himself, is apt to take the lighter girl who fires his fancy. Instead of the reasonable one who would be a comfort to him all the days of his life. In politics and matrimony the logical candidate seldom gets a nomination, which explains why so many women who are cut out to make good wives are spinsters.

BEST QUALITY IN A WIFE

Is Good Hard Common Sense

The quality that I should look for first in a wife is good, hard common sense—the variety that is known as horse sense, says Dorothy Dix.

The reason why this is the rarest of all virtues among women is because it is the one least esteemed by man, and therefore least cultivated by the feminine sex. Heaven alone knows why, but as a rule the less intelligence and reason that a girl displays the more she is admired by men. That is, before marriage. After marriage, when a man goes up and down against the sweet unreason that once upon a time enchanted

MAXIM GORKY MARRIES HIS FORMER COMPANION

Russian Author Voices Intense Dislike of America

Maxim Gorky, the Russian author, has married Mrs. Marie Andrieva, who accompanied him on his trip to the United States about a year ago.

The information is brought by Harold MacGrath, author of "The Man on the Box" and other novels, who has arrived in New York on the Red Star liner Finland. Mr. and Mrs. MacGrath spent the summer on the island of Capri in the Mediterranean, in a colony of literary persons, among whom was Maxim Gorky.

"Maxim Gorky is now married to the woman who accompanied him on his visit to New York, and who brought disaster to his cause when it was learned that she was not his wife," said Mr. MacGrath. "She spent the summer with him in Capri, where she was much admired by the summer colonists. She seems to be a woman of splendid character and deeply devoted to her husband's interests."

Mr. MacGrath also said that the Russian writer gave a hundred thousand dollars, more than two-thirds of his income, to the Russian liberal cause last year.

When Gorky came here to plead with the people of America for the Russian people his companion was greatly admired by all who saw or met her. But before his campaign really was under way it became known that the beautiful woman was not his wife, but an actress of note. His marriage had not been happy, and while his friends in Europe accepted the new conditions he had brought about, America refused to condone the departure from conventions as they are established here.

Gorky and Mrs. Andrieva could not believe that they were being talked about, but when they were forced to the conclusion they were indignant and grieved. They were accompanied here by the author's adopted son of 17, Nikola Pleshkoff, and when they sailed for Naples on the Princess Irene, October 14 last, the pair listed as "Mr. and Mrs. Nikola Pleshkoff."

After his return to Europe Gorky voiced his dislike for this country. In a new work he described New York as having a stomach of stone.

When the Earth was flushed and the trees were young And the bluebirds called from an April sky, Beyond where the moon's slim cradle swung Life's long, long vistas before us hung Half-veiled in tears, though we knew not why; For hearts were yearning—but on the tongue The slow words faltered, and lips were shy.

When the Earth was green and the trees were strong And the river sang to the warm, white sun, The hours were blithe and the days were long, For life was working, and work was song— No wailing minor of things undone And no black discord of hopes gone wrong; Life's sands were many, and slow to run.

To Be Attractive Cultivate the Use Of Gentle Manners

One of the greatest attractions that a girl can have is good manners, says Edith Carruth, and they are within the possibility of all to acquire. Every girl would like to be pretty, and the majority are, in one way or another, but the most beautiful is made more so if she is sweet and gentle in manner, and the homeliest girl becomes charming by cultivating the art of how to please.

HOMELY GIRL MAY BE MORE CHARMING THAN PRETTY ONE

It is precisely this that good manners achieve. They are far more than simply doing the proper thing. When a young girl steps aside to let an older woman go through a door first she has not merely been polite, but in standing aside she has shown a deference to the other which the other will not resent, be she thirty or sixty years.

You will notice that a kind hearted person is always well mannered. The two invariably go together when the latter are not acquired for thoughtfulness and consideration that spring from the heart do not express themselves roughly or brutally, but gently and kindly. Such persons may not always be quiet or low voiced, and both are desirable for perfect manners, but you do not find them pushing roughly in crowds or trying to get everything that is in sight before any one else can. They either go slowly or stand aside, and sometimes even help along the weaker.

This kind of thing is always pleasing to others, be they old or young, and if added gentleness and sweetness in expression of thoughtfulness or helpfulness there is made a combination with which the prettiest girl may be thrown in the shade by the homeliest if the pretty one is ill-mannered. The plain one who is smilingly tries to please her friends of any age or either sex, doing so quietly and sweetly, is infinitely more popular him arraigned before Magistrate Moss in West Side Court, where he was discharged with a reprimand.

Since then she said he had been calling three or four times a week, only to be ordered away from the house. Then frequently he would sit on the front porch of the house till midnight to get a glimpse of her. He called last Friday night and was kicked out by her kitchenman, but all these replies did not cool his ardor.

Magistrate Harris thought that about six months on the island was long enough to cool the ardor of the lovesick man, and that was the sentence pronounced.

Concerning Women

The story goes that Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish learned enough Swedish to welcome Prince Wilhelm in his own language. The prince knows English well and it is said that his constant companion for a long time in preparation for his American trip was a tutor who gave him lessons in the colloquial phrases that he would be likely to hear.

When some one called Mrs. Elderly to regard to her recent trial she sent word that "The situation of the lawsuit is described to James 2:24: 'Our work in the future will be the same as in the past, namely, to love God supremely and to love our neighbor as ourselves, to return good for evil, to reform the sinner and to heal the sick.'"

Boston will begin this fall a girl's high school of practical arts to correspond in purpose with the commercial high school for boys. The school will attempt to teach girls practical courses to fit them as homemakers. Among the studies will be house furnishing, decoration, house-keeping, cooking, sewing and millinery.

Hearts' Seasons By Charles Buxton Going

When the Earth was bleak and the trees were pale And the east wind cries through the falling rain, Draw close, dear heart, from the rising gale; We'll measure bravely our meager tale Of wide, poor stubble and scanty grain. But, dear, we have tried; if the harvest fall The Lord of the Harvest will count our pain.

When the trees are gray and the Earth is white And the north wind sings in the chimney stone, Then, hand in hand, we will wait the night; With quiet hearts, we will say good night. Dear heart, was not all the year our own? There is no darkness Love cannot light— We'll face, together, the great Unknown! —In the September Everybody's.

Men Do Not Admire Boisterous Women, Even if Amused

than the pretty girl who goes triumphantly and selfishly on her way for a time. But the way is short, for it is not a girl's looks alone that hold her friends to her. It is herself, what she is. A stranger is attracted at first by the pretty girl's appearance, but unless she has something besides, or if she is ill-mannered, he quickly drops her, and it is the other with sweet manners and gentle ways to whom he devotes himself.

To make oneself conspicuous in public places by talking or acting in such a way as to attract the attention of strangers is one of the worst demonstrations of bad manners that any girl can give, but, unfortunately, one sees such cases. These girls seem to think that it is clever or nice to talk so loud as to have strangers, especially men, listening and staring to see how the most inexperienced girl can think that this is desirable, for however amused or attracted a man may seem under these conditions his opinion of the girl is such that her ears would tingle were she to hear it.

If he smiles as he listens to her boisterous talk it is not with her, as she seems fondly to believe, but at her, and it must be a queer girl who likes to be laughed at. His stare is not really one of admiration, though I know the loud talking girl seems to think that it is. In reality the kindest impelling motive is that of regarding a new freak, or a different species of common kind, and more often than not he regards her as a "sport."

Somewhere

(BY FRANCES SAVAGE.)

Somewhere
In a garden rare
In the land of dreams,
By a palace fair,
A merry sprite
And an armored knight
Met and stood in the fading light.

Now 'twas told
In days of old
The armored knight was stern
And cold,
That thoughts of fame
And mighty name
Were aught that kept his heart afar.

But
The merry sprite,
With a heart as light
As a rope of dew on a summer's night,
Mayhap by chance
Broke shield and lance
Of the armored knight with a requish glance.

And it befell,
So poets tell,
The merry sprite wove love's sweet spell,
And charmed the knight
From deeds of might
Into the paths of love and light.

And
So you see
Whence'er he be,
An armored knight can scarce
From Cupid's dart
And wounds that smart,
Perchance, of course, he has a heart.

GALLAGHER IS CRACKED ON STAND BY DEFENSE

Tells of Immunity Contract Given Him by Spreckels---Davis Tells How His Theater Was Favored When in Trouble.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Gallagher's reputation of his tale of shameful bribery and his corrupting of the other supervisors yesterday held the attention of the crowd that filled Judge Lawlor's courtroom in the afternoon session of the Ford bribery case. The sleek grafter told his tale of shame without a sign that he recognized the depth of his own degradation. At times he attempted to crack jokes with the attorneys and occasionally conveyed the impression that he enjoyed the relation of his crimes. His interview with Spreckels in which he was promised immunity were the chief points dwelt upon in the re-direct examination and also in the cross-examination. Rogers on several occasions and once or twice nettled him from his calm and satisfied bearing. In the afternoon recess Gallagher met his fellow grafter, Ruef, and the two shook hands and joked for some time.

SPRECKELS MEETINGS.

In the re-direct examination when questioned by Heney regarding his meetings with Spreckels at the Hotel Windsor and at the second meeting, Gallagher replied:

"Where was that meeting held?" asked Heney.

"At the same place."

"What were the special matters?"

"None. Nothing was wanted to be assured of."

"What else?" asked Heney.

"Some of the supervisors wanted to know if they would be resigning."

"I spoke to Mr. Spreckels about that. He said he did not think that it would be safe to do so, because, he said, if they should resign, Mayor Schmitz would appoint their successors. He thought it would be best for the supervisors to hold their offices and give a good government for the purpose of repairing the injury they had done."

"I told Mr. Spreckels that I was satisfied the supervisors would accept the proposition, but that I wanted to report back to the board. Mr. Spreckels said that was not unreasonable. I said then that if they accepted the proposition, I would notify him of it."

"We got the supervisors together the next day. I believe as soon as possible, anyhow, and they unanimously decided to accept the proposition if they should be given immunity and allowed to make a statement of their dealings with public service corporations."

"How did you send him word of that meeting?" asked Heney.

"I really do not know."

"What occurred at that meeting?"

"ACCEPTED IMMUNITY."

"I told him that the board had decided to accept the immunity," said Gallagher. He went on to say that his confession in the Gladstone apartments had been made two days before the Grand Jury met.

"Were any of the supervisors absent from the conference?"

"No, I don't think so."

"Was Ruef there?"

"I don't think he was."

"Why did you refuse to hand Ruef the money?"

"This was objected to and the objection was sustained."

"Did Mr. Spreckels at these meetings intimate in any way how you were to testify?"

"No, sir."

"Who questioned you at the Gladstone apartments?"

"It was Mr. Heney," replied Gallagher. "Did he ask you leading questions or in any way seek to influence you?" asked Heney.

"No, sir."

"These Sunday night caucuses that you have testified to holding, when did they begin?"

"In January, 1905."

"Who was present at the meetings?"

"There was Mr. Schmitz, Mr. Ruef and the members of the board."

"He further testified that no one except the members of the board or Schmitz and Ruef, and also the clerk of the board, afterwards Schmitz' private secretary, were allowed at the meetings."

"When Mr. Ruef mentioned the difficulty of securing a sufficient amount of money, was any one else mentioned?"

"No, sir."

"Did you pay any money to Supervisor Walsh? I forgot to ask that question before," said Heney.

"Yes, sir," said Gallagher.

"Did you attend any caucuses before the passage of the trolley franchise?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did Mr. Ruef attend any of them?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, at these caucuses, was Sheriff O'Neill there?"

"No, sir."

"Any of his cousins?"

"No, sir."

"Any of Heney's cousins?" broke in Rogers.

"No, sir."

Rogers then took the witness.

"Did you ever know that Spreckels was employed by Owens?"

"I did not."

"Don't know it yet, eh?"

"No, sir."

"Didn't know that Heney introduced Owens to Lomorgan and told him that Owens was to be his attorney?"

"No, sir."

"AT HENRY'S OFFICE."

"You were down in Heney's office last Sunday night, were you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ruef was there, was he not?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what kept you and Ruef and Heney in Heney's office from 7 until 10 o'clock?"

"Oh, general talk, was the answer."

"Your trip to Europe was discussed?"

"Well, I believe I mentioned that I was going to Europe in my alibi."

"But didn't you and Ruef plan for your trip to Europe? Didn't Ruef say he was going to take a trip to Europe as soon as this little fracas was over?" asked Rogers.

"He may possibly have said something like that," replied the witness.

Rogers questioned the hoodler regarding the transaction of the supervisors and particularly the dismissal of the old board of supervisors. Rogers wanted to know if the supervisors were not promised that they should hold their office until their terms expired.

"But they were to hold office as long as the new board of supervisors said the Spring Valley company, and did whatever they were told."

"Not that I know of," said Gallagher.

"SPRING VALLEY CASE."

"You mean to say that you were not ordered by Langdon to pay this $100,000 to the Spring Valley Water Company. Wasn't that one of the first things you were instructed to do after receiving your clear bill of health?"

"I can't recall it."

"Well, what made the old board resign?"

"Well, public opinion was against us and as the press was also against the plan outlined by Spreckels."

"Ha, ha," broke in Rogers.

"The plan outlined by Mr. Spreckels. Let me put that down."

Heney objected and Judge Lawlor sustained the objection.

Gallagher went on to say that Langdon had advised the board to resign.

"Didn't the District Attorney demand your resignation and send you down written immunity contracts to get you to resign?"

"I stated," continued Gallagher, that the board was not to be forced to resign but that it was advisable to do so because of the hostility of the press. The question of immunity then came up. I asked Langdon if the contract had been signed. He said it had not. I said I had reported to the board on the subject, and told him that I would like to have the contract signed so as to show the members that I had reported to them.

"I know there were reports that the supervisors and been forced to resign, but I didn't hear any of them made."

"At the time you resigned, you got a contract?"

"Where is it?"

"It is my safety deposit boxes."

"Is that where the thirty-five thousand dollars you got are?"

"It is where a part of the $35,000 are," said Gallagher.

"Why did you keep it?"

"The board members wanted me to keep it."

"Who formerly kept it?"

"No person, except myself."

"Didn't Mr. Spreckels have that contract?"

"There were two contracts made. Each was an original."

"Didn't Mr. Spreckels have that contract?"

"No, he did not."

"That contract produced in the Glass trial?"

"I think you are mistaken. Don't you mean the Boxton contract?" asked Gallagher.

"Yes, the Boxton contract," said Rogers, repeating Gallagher's words.

"I heard," said Gallagher, that Boxton had a contract, but I never saw it."

"Did not each supervisor have a copy of the contract?"

"I never saw it."

Heney then took the witness and got him to say that the Deputy District Attorney had never influenced him in any manner as to what the witness was to testify too.

"RE-DIRECT BY HENY."

"When did that Spring Valley Water Works $100,000 matter come up?" asked Heney, referring to the subject Rogers had brought out in the re-cross examination, and Gallagher replied:

"The matter came up in the appointment and report of the associated water committee. The $100,000 was wanted to enable the Spring Valley to rebuild some of the property which had been destroyed. The project and the report was attacked by the press, although the supervisors had acted, as far as the matter had gone, in accordance with the recommendation of that committee comprising representatives of the labor and commercial interests of this city. Their names were given to the report was Messrs. Jacobs, Walter MacArthur, Michael Casey and Colonel Huer."

"Was the franchise of the Spring Valley Water Company forfeited?"

"No."

"Did you have anything to do with the passage of the ordinance repealing the franchise?"

"That ordinance was not introduced until after the new board went in."

"Did Rudolf Spreckels in any person connected with the prosecution ask you to do anything regarding the cancellation of the Spring Valley franchise?"

"No."

"At that meeting last Sunday night, in Mr. Heney's office, was there anything said about Ruef going to Europe?" asked Heney.

"RUEF'S FOREIGN TRIP."

"The matter was not discussed, but I remember back to me that there were some of those words used by me to Mr. Ruef, but it was in a joking manner."

"Who was present?" was Mr. Cobb there?"

"I think he was."

"Was he there during the discussion of the testimony?"

"I believe he was."

"Did you tell Mr. Spreckels what you had said to Mr. Owens while he was acting as your attorney?"

"No, sir."

"Did you know that Mr. Owens had tried to collect a fee from Mr. Spreckels as well as from the supervisors?"

"No, sir."

"Didn't know he was so close to the defense, did you?" questioned Heney.

"No, sir."

"He hasn't touched the defense," said Rogers.

"Did you ever meet a Mr. Donlan?"

"I did."

"Yes, he asked for an interview."

"Give him one?"

"I did not."

"Did Mr. Ruef at any time before the trial tell you that the Bay Cities Water Company was prepared to sell its plant to the city and that the supervisors would get a bigger price than from any other company?" asked Heney.

"I don't remember."

"Did Ruef say that there would be a bigger price in it for the members of the board?"

"I don't remember."

"You said you arranged your immunity contract with Spreckels."

"Yes, with Langdon and Heney also," said Gallagher.

"How about Ruef's trip to Europe?" asked Rogers.

"I don't know," said Gallagher.

"Now I want the witness to state the facts in the case so that the jury will not be misled by hints and insinuations that Ruef has been promised immunity, angrily broke in Heney.

Gallagher stated he really knew nothing about any projected European trip of Ruef.

"But I don't think I have the correct nunch, don't you," asked Rogers.

"I don't know," was the reply. Gallagher was then excused after five hours under the fire of cross-examination.

DAVIS ON STAND.

After the five-minute recess former Supervisor Sam Davis was called. He stated that he had resigned office about two months ago.

"When did you first learn that the United Railroads sought a franchise for an overhead trolley?"

Stanley Moore objected, stating that no connection with the defendant was shown.

Judge Lawlor read several opinions in the matter and after a lengthy discussion Judge Lawlor overruled the objection.

"Who first spoke to you about the trolley matter, Mr. Davis, after the fire?"

Rogers again objected.

"What members of the board did you hear speak about it?"

"A number of them."

"Who spoke to you about it?"

"What did he say?" asked Heney.

"$4000 FOR VOTE."

"He told me there was $4000 in it for me."

"Was this prior to the final passage?"

"Yes, sir, it was."

"When did you say to him when he told you that?"

"I don't remember just what it was."

"Did you vote in favor of its passage to print?"

"Yes, sir."

"What influenced your vote?" asked Heney.

"Well, because I favored the bill," replied the witness.

"Any other reason?"

"Well, I favored the bill."

"Don't forget that you voted you expected this money."

"Yes, sir."

"How much was it?"

"$4000."

"How long after you got the first payment did you get the second one?"

"I don't remember, but it was only a short time."

"How much was the last payment?"

"$2000," replied the witness.

"At the time of the passage to print was any one before the board for the United Railroads?"

"Do you know 'Trey L. Ford'?"

"Yes, I have met him."

"Between the earthquake and the final passage of the bill did you meet Mr. Ford?" asked Heney.

"No, sir."

"Take the witness," said Heney.

"When did you become a Supervisor, Mr. Davis?" asked Rogers.

"In January, 1906."

"Did you ever hear that the matter of the trolley was coming up. You know that the street car system of the city is a disaster and you know it would take millions to re-establish it?"

"Yes, sir."

"You say you approved of the overhead trolley?" asked Rogers.

"Somebody told you there was going to be some money," asked Rogers.

"But there was no promise."

"The Supervisors got talking about it."

"But promise on it?"

Heney objected on the ground that it called for the conclusion of the witness.

Rogers held that he could do that in cross-examination.

Heney held that it could not be done. The witness could not be required to state a conclusion.

Rogers insisted that he had a right to the conclusion of the witness.

The court asked Rogers where he found authority for such a statement.

Rogers said the books were full of authorities.

The court desired authority and Rogers said that he would present authorities in the morning.

"The objection to the question in its present form is sustained," said the court.

"You're a theater man, ain't you, Mr. Davis?"

"Yes."

"You've got one now?"

"Yes."

"You were before the grand jury, weren't you?"

"Yes."

"They ask you anything about that?"

"Yes."

"But they talked more about the theater, didn't they?"

"Yes."

"ABOUT HIS THEATER."

"They asked me a question or two about the theater."

"How about the denomination of the bill? How about the small ones?"

"Yes. They were generally small."

Rogers then read from Davis' statement before the grand jury showing that the bills were large ones and then asked:

"How is it that you now say they were small bills?"

"It was an impression I got after leaving the grand jury room."

"Three months hence you may have another change of mind?"

"I can't tell."

"Have you any trouble about your testimony?"

"No."

"Do you expect any?"

"No."

"You were running a theater which was in violation of the ordinance weren't you?"

"Not in my opinion."

"Well, Heney said you were. Aint it?"

"That don't make any difference. It wasn't a violation."

"Yes."

"And after you testified in this case there was nothing more said by the grand jury about your theater?"

"I don't know."

"Did you hear of petitions before the Supervisors in favor of the overhead trolley system?"

"I do not recall," said Davis.

"There is good reason to believe that there were such petitions filed, but they cannot be found," said Rogers.

"Well, if they were there you are welcome to produce them," said Heney.

"HIS IMMUNITY CONTRACT."

"Your contract was in writing, was it not?" Heney asked the witness.

"Which contract?"

"You know that the contract exempts you from prosecution for what you testified to before the grand jury."

"Yes, sir," replied the trembling witness. As the prosecutor glared at him the theater man appeared to become badly frightened and there was a quaver

RICH BARGAIN OFFER IN TRIBUNE CONTEST IS BRINGING IN VOTES TO LAST ONLY FOR FEW DAYS

Fraternal Worker Is Striving for His Society.

The offer of double the usual number of votes in THE TRIBUNE prize contest is bringing many subscribers and a number of candidates have materially increased their vote.

Candidates and their friends should keep in mind that this bargain offer is only for a few days and at no other time during the contest will any better offer be made.

NO OTHER SPECIAL OFFER.

The special offer of extra votes for new subscribers that was made in last week's contest will not be repeated during this contest. The present "Bargain Days" are the only bargain days that will be given during the whole contest. For the benefit of candidates and their friends it is positively stated that this is the only special offer that will be made.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Get every vote possible during the present bargain period. See all of your friends who have promised you to vote for them that you will get double the usual number of votes if they pay their subscription this week.

RESERVE OF VOTES.

During "Bargain Days" is the time to get a large reserve of votes to be cast on the final night of the contest. If you do not get these subscriptions, your opponents will secure the votes before they are given to some one else.

VOTE CERTIFICATES.

All vote certificates no matter when issued, can be held and voted on the last night of the contest. Pay your subscription now and get double the usual number of votes. As this offer will not be repeated at a later date, and as no other special offer of any kind will be made, this is the time to get busy and secure every subscription possible.

R. G. MARQUARDT OF BEN HUR.

R. G. Marquardt, keeper of Ben Hur, has been working hard to put his organization at the top of the list. Marquardt has a reputation for getting what he sets out for, and will make the other organizations wake up and take notice. He has an extensive representation and manager on the coast for the Ben Hur tribe.

COUPONS IN PACKAGES.

The vote coupons must be tied in packages or placed in envelopes. It is impossible to count thousands of coupons dropped loosely in the box.

CLASSIFIED AD COUPONS.

An innovation in voting contests is the issue of votes on classified advertisements. A coupon book containing coupons to the value of $2.50 is sold for $2. This is a saving of one cent on each coupon and will prove a great investment for those who advertise. Classified advertisements are also used in the contest. For Sale, Rooms to Rent, etc. These classified advertisement coupons can be used at the date, as desired by the purchasers.

MANNER OF VOTING.

A coupon good for one vote will be published in each issue of THE TRIBUNE until the end of the contest. This coupon, if clipped and sent to the Contest Manager, F. W. L. Smith, will count as one vote for the contest. There is another and better way of securing votes and that is on subscriptions. During Bargain Week votes will be given on all paid-in-advance subscriptions as follows:

Three months, $1.95..... 200 extra votes
Six months, $3.50..... 400 extra votes
One year, $7.00..... 800 extra votes
Two years, $13.00..... 1600 extra votes
Three years, $23.40..... 10,000 extra votes

During Bargain Week 600 votes are also issued on a classified advertisement coupon book, which contains coupons worth $2.50, but sells for only $2.

Order the —Sunlit— Brand

Jellies, Jams and Preserves

Of Your Grocer

You will enjoy the true delicate natural flavor, the perfect purity and beautiful color, and never buy any other.

The —SUNLIT— brand will not cost any more than other first-class brands, but some grocers prefer to sell inferior brands on which they make a larger profit; therefore, it is necessary to insist on having the —SUNLIT— Jellies, Jams, and Preserves.

Many of the leading grocers are willing to supply their customers with the best of everything in their line and consequently are selling the —SUNLIT— brand.

We give below the names of the grocers who are now selling the —SUNLIT— brand and will add to the list from week to week as the orders come in from other grocers. For the present go to the grocers whose names we give below:

CROWDS SURGE IN FRONT OF ORPHEUM BOX OFFICE

GEISHA MAIDENS AT ORPHEUM.
WITH O'HANA SAN COMPANY IN OPENING BILL.

Unusual Scenes Attend Opening of Seat Sale at Popular Play House on Twelfth Street.

Twelfth street assumed an aspect of metropolitan activity this morning in excess of its ordinary liveliness, when a great crowd took possession of the street in front of the new Orpheum theater, prepared to stand in line and await the opening of the Orpheum box office. No such scenes as attended the opening of the seat sale have been witnessed by theatergoers for many days.

This city crowd proved to be almost more than some of the anxious seat purchasers could endure and the small crowds were obliged in many instances to retire from the crowd and secure messenger boys to take their places in line.

REJECT AUCTION.

Some enthusiastic persons had proposed to the Orpheum manager that the week that the seats for the opening night be auctioned off but this proposal was rejected and the regular seat sale was conducted instead according to the announced schedule.

There is little doubt, however, judging by the rush for seats when the office opened this morning that the auction sale could have been carried out and handsome prices realized for all seats. The demand evidently is to be greater, much greater, than the supply. At noon the management stated that but very few seats remained.

MISS BURKHART.

The news that Miss Lillian Burkhardt is to head the opening bill at the Orpheum has pleased Oakland people. Hundreds know of Miss Burkhardt's charm as an actress, having witnessed her triumphs at the Orpheum in San Francisco in past seasons. The actress is assured of a tumultuous welcome next Monday night, and her performance is anticipated as perhaps the most delightful feature of a valuable that is to be notable for its strong points.

The remainder of the bill includes exceptionally clever vaudeville, so that the even balance will be maintained which is characteristic of the "advanced vaudeville" purveyed in the circuit of Orpheum theaters.

TELLS HOW TO CURE CATARRH

Simple Home Prescription Which Sufferers Should Make Up and Try.

The coming months will be a harvest for the doctors and patent medicine manufacturers unless great care is taken to keep the feet dry, also dress warmly.

This is the advice of a well-known authority and should be heeded by all who are subject to rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles and especially catarrh. While the latter is considered by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time it will prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season.

Here is the prescription which any one in mix Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kirsan one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

These are mostly vegetable ingredients and can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Compound Kirsan in this prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make them more efficient in the removal of the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses and it is seldom that the sufferer ever experiences a return attack within the season.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weakness and rheumatic pains are entirely dispelled.

As this is a simple, though simple, recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source it should be heeded by every afflicted reader.

FIRE INSURANCE MEN ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Steps were taken last night at the office of I. Harrison Clark, Tenth and Broadway, to organize all of the fire and insurance agencies of the city. The purpose of the new body is to unify the work of the Board of Underwriters and to confer the writing of policies to this body or to the city.

At this end, E. T. Jolly, who was chosen as a committee of one at a former meeting in San Francisco, reported that he obtained a promise from 80 per cent of them not to write insurance in Oakland, Berkeley or Alameda. He thought that all would agree to the proposition if they be approached in the matter.

The following officers were elected: President, E. T. Jolly; Vice-President, F. Porter; Secretary, Fred Le Balister; Treasurer, John Martens.

EX-SENATOR FOSTER AT TRIAL OF BORAH

TACOMA, Sept. 25.—Ex-United States Senator G. G. Foster, vice president of the St. Paul and Tacoma Lumber Company, was subpoenaed to appear at Boise last Friday and left Tacoma Monday. The order from the court which called his appearance at the scene of the Borah trial also cited the ex-senator to bring with him all papers, letters, telegrams and even carbon copies of all correspondence he possesses bearing upon the matter of the Barber Lumber Company.

"PRINCE OF PILSEN" TO RETURN SATURDAY

"The Prince of Pilsen" will return to the Madison Theater next Saturday afternoon and evening. Manager Hall has bought of another town in order that the show might return to Oakland. Many people were unable to get seats for the performances early in the week, and so Mr. Hall decided to bring the company back for a matinee and evening show. He deserves credit for his enterprise.

METCALF IS NOT TO RETIRE

California Said to Have No Aspirations for Honors in Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, it is said, has no intentions of relinquishing his portfolio and as far as can be learned, the president has no inclination to place another at the head of the department.

Secretary Metcalf expects to remain in the cabinet until the president's term expires, and then will take a long rest in the mountains after which he may resume his law practice. He has no political plans, and does not hesitate to declare that he has no aspirations for the Senate.

As to his parting from his private secretary, Leon Clark, he says there is no significance in that as Clark has been destructive of beginning his legal career, and is now able to do so under favorable auspices, albeit at some loss of salary, as deputy district attorney of Oakland.

HOW IT STARTED.

The beginning of the talk about Metcalf's possible resignation seems to have had as its excuse the assumption that Metcalf's announcement in Oakland of his suggestion and the result of the joint desire of himself and Metcalf to answer the complaint of the Californians.

Eastern editors and politicians have bitterly opposed the transfer, but without success. The administration feels that as the country pays $100,000,000 annually for the maintenance of the navy, all parts of it have an interest in the ships, and not the Atlantic Coast alone. Opposition to the move is fully expected as soon as Congress meets, but the administration is preparing to checkmate any steps the opposition may take. Just what steps will be taken by the administration remains to be seen.

GAELIC CLUB WILL GIVE ANNUAL BALL

Tomorrow evening the Gaelic Dancing Club of Oakland will entertain its members and patrons, who will doubtless appreciate this announcement of its sixth annual ball at Maple Hall Fourteenth and Webster streets which has been secured for this occasion and that the music will be furnished by the Gaelic Pipers Club which of itself will be a treat to music lovers.

Del Monte Heights

Buy Now And You Will Make Money

Here is a picture of one of the improvements to be made at Del Monte Heights—the coming town of residences within ten minutes' walk from the famous Hotel Del Monte.

At the Heights is Lake del Rey, a beautiful body of fresh water, one-half mile long and a thousand feet wide. The lake is soon to be transformed into a second Venice or Naples, with concert pavilion, concrete landings, artistic bridges, boats, gondolas and myriads of lights for night illumination.

Streets will be curbed, oiled and graded. Sidewalks will have shade trees. Sewer and water pipes to be laid. Electric cars will connect Del Monte Heights with Monterey and Pacific Grove.

These improvements are going to make your property worth three times what you pay for it. We actually believe this to be the best real estate investment in California.

Monterey—The Coming City

Monterey has deep water, where ocean-going vessels can dock in a protected harbor. Monterey is the logical outlet for all the products of the San Joaquin, Santa Clara and Salinas valleys. That's why railroads are preparing to have terminals at Monterey, so that rail and water can meet. Remember that Monterey is going to be the largest city between San Francisco and Los Angeles. Increased population means more homes, and the logical place for these homes is at Del Monte Heights.

Buy at Del Monte Heights now and you will make money. Lots selling for $100 to $300 on easy terms. Use the coupon below and learn more.

Inquire at either of our offices for round trip ticket to Del Monte Heights next Sunday; free lunch at Hotel Del Monte and fine trolley ride included.

STEINWAY AND OTHER PIANOS

VICTOR TALKING MACHINES

WHY STEINWAY PRICES ARE SO LOW

priced so low as Steinway Pianos in all trade there is nothing it seems an anomalous condition that the Steinway—so immeasurably superior to all other musical instruments—can be sold at nearly the price asked for a mediocre piano; but there are several reasons for it. First, Messrs. Steinway & Sons are the chief patrons of music in America, and the price of their pianos is their warmest expression of interest in the cultivation of the Ideal Art. Second, the Steinway is the only piano sold in every part of the world—this great demand makes it possible to offer to Americans an art piano at a figure many times less than it would cost if the sales territory were only local. Third, the manufacturer's profit on the Steinway is much less on the dollar than that of any other maker. Steinway's inventive genius, Steinway's thoroughness, Steinway's business foresight, have created this condition and made it possible for you to have—for a few hundred dollars—an instrument that is the realization of every great musician's dream and the despair of every other piano maker. Steinway Miniature Grand, the supreme small grand, $300; Steinway Vertegrand, the grand tone from an upright, $525.

BOSH THE BILL HAS AROUSED BOXING FANS' CURIOSITY

Young Ketchel Wants Extra Bonus-- Marysville Wants Whitney and Thompson.

By EDDIE SMITH.

With the boycott on the street cars called off and the half holiday Saturday afternoon, Jim Coffroth expects to have a large crowd at the first Saturday afternoon fight to be held at Mission street arena.

Bill Squires and Jack (Twin) Sullivan who are to be the contestants have attracted even more attention than it was at first expected in fact, when the match was made Coffroth made it for the purpose of giving the people who were asking him every day to give the Australian another chance and an opportunity to again see him in action.

Of course the astute manager had no intention of losing any money on the venture or he would not have made the match but unless the writer is greatly mistaken he did not expect that the contest would arouse the curiosity that it has. Squires the Antipodean is the mystery that the followers of the boxing game want to follow. He has had one fight since coming here but in this one with Tommy Burns he had little chance to show what he can do the contest only lasting one round.

The Australian came here so highly touted that the sports made him a favorite in the betting over one of the toughest light heavies that we ever had. His showing was a worry one but some seem to think that it was an accidental winning and are willing to back the champion from the far away land in another chance at the American champions.

The man who is to be his opponent in the coming contest is one of the cleverest and toughest men to beat in the country today yet the speculators are laying 9 against 10 that Squires wins. Under ordinary circumstances the betting on the coming contest with the miserable showing Squires made against Burns still fresh in the memory of the better, the odds would be at least two to one.

Bill seems to have caught on with a leath grip to the fans however and if he wins the coming contest there will be an awful clamor for a return match between him and Burns.

After Burns knocked the Australian down the first time Bill regained his feet and striking out he landed on the Canadian's stomach and the contortions of Burns showed plainly that the punch carried clean behind it. That punch is the thing that the fans are depending upon to bring home the money when Bill starts with Sullivan.

Sullivan is not a puncher of the knockout class and he will depend on his cleverness to win. He has punch enough to put the Australian away however if he lands right, as it would appear from the manner in which Bill receives his punishment that he is not capable of taking the amount of it that was reported.

To those who intend going direct from Oakland to the arena it might be well to say that the cars start from the ferry every ten minutes.

Place Young Ketchel in the book of modern pugilism. He wants a bonus from the men he meets from now on so he is entitled to a niche in the hall of fame where the grab all fighters go.

This pesky bonus business has been going on for a long time and if it keeps on Cocky O'Brien will want a bonus every time he starts or will make a demand on the owners of the WILLIS to place him on the free lunch counter or the cafe that he helps to make famous by his illustrious presence.

Yesterday in arguing over the agreement under which Ketchel and Thomas are to meet in a return match if they ever do meet, the leak leaked out that the weight under which the men are to meet is a secondary consideration to the way the money is to be cut.

When the men met at Colma and Marysville Thomas had the best of the cutting of the money. At Colma which was the most important meeting Thomas received a 5 per cent bonus. Now Ketchel wants a 10 per cent bonus for taking the man on that fought him with a 5 per cent cut on the side.

Thomas says that he is willing that Ketchel should get just the same consideration that he received but that he will not stand for the extra percentage.

Now there you are modern pugilistic matches. The first thing asked how much are you to get? Ketchel should agree to fight for the same inducements that Thomas did and when his sportsmanship gets the better of him he no doubt will.

Joe Gans has abandoned the idea of meeting Ketchel and it now looks as if the colored man had just two men to choose from. Jack Blackburn, the hard fighting colored man from Philadelphia, or Battling Nelson.

Gans still maintains that he will not meet Nelson unless he gets 80 per cent of the purse, so we might as well forget that such a match is possible as Nolan will never agree to such terms. Blackburn is too tough for any of the lightweight to be anxious to tackle so the chances are that Joe will hike off to Baltimore for the winter after his fight with Burns in Los Angeles.

Barney Van Buskirk the Marysville promoter has wired the writer to try and match Ketchel with Whitney and Morris Thompson for Marysville the early part of next month.

Sonoma Girl Is In Great Shape

COLLEMBERT, O. Sept. 26.—Dan Patch was lame yesterday and could not start against his record so it fell to the lot of Sonoma Girl to carry the flag to the finish of the feature of the day's sport at the Grand Circuit meeting.

Nevada Fifteen Anger Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY Sept. 26.—Stanford men are greatly angered at the attitude assumed by the management of football affairs at the University of Nevada. From the present indications all relations between the two universities may be called off.

After having scheduled two games the Nevada University called the contests off without giving to the Stanford team what could be construed by them as sufficient reason.

The Stanford men believe that outside influence has been brought to bear on the Nevada side.

The latter date would conflict with the big match with California and is considered undesirable as the Nevada games are considered merely preparatory.

Not only will Stanford sever football relations with Nevada but it is believed that baseball relations will also be severed unless peace can be patched up with the Nevadans.

Harry Rogers Enters Varsity

BERKELEY Sept. 26.—Harry N. Rogers junior tennis champion of Southern California last year and W. L. Warren of Honolulu who have entered the University this year are to hope of the freshmen in the intercollegiate tennis tournaments which are being held on the campus. The matches between the freshmen and sophomores are to be held next week.

Yachtsmen Decline Lipton Challenge

NEW YORK Sept. 26.—At a meeting of the New York Yacht Club held last night the directors refused to accept the challenge issued by Sir Thomas Lipton recently. The New York yachtsmen claim that the conditions of the challenge were unsatisfactory.

When your liver is inactive, when you are dull and drowsy by day and restless at night, take Lash's Bitters.

RELIANCE CLUB BOXING CARD IS PLEASING PATRONS OF THE SPORT

FAST AMATEURS READY FOR BATTLE.

Best Millmen in the Bay Cities Will Mix It at Piedmont Tomorrow.

Tomorrow night the Reliance Club will hold what the fans are pleased to call the finest card that the club has ever had. The contests including three six and seven four round bouts all seem to be even matches and it would be deemed surprising if the boxing enthusiasts did not get a great run for their money.

Owing to the fact that the Gans Burns fight at Los Angeles comes off the same night the management has made arrangements to announce the result of the southern contest at the ring-side. Many of the fans here are interested in the contest in the South and this news will please them greatly.

The main event has developed into a betting fight of considerable importance the betting last night being done at even odds. The price however will no doubt shorten as the greater number of fans seem to like the Gans who has been successful in the boxing enthusiasts did not get a great run for their money.

TURF

News comes from New York that Dr. F. B. Russell will have full control of the racing interests of the city. The horse owners are said to be very much interested in the plan.

The horses of Joseph Karpavich, the wealthy Chicago four mer hant in charge of the Chicago Jockey Club, have been sent to the Graveland track for the past month. Among the lot are such well known performers as Plead Lady Irene, Surety, Invergent, All Blaze, Queen, and two year olds. This stable will surely make good this winter as they are well bred.

Eddie Smith writes from Belgium that he is coming home to pass the winter.

George March will make the engagements for Jockey, Palms.

In a letter to Horseman Gil Curry, Eddie Herz writes that he will not make the trip to California this winter.

It is said that the horses of Charley McCafferty are held in Seattle pending money matters.

Trainer J. H. Spritt said yesterday that he will have Ocean Shore ready for the opening.

Trainer John Low is in charge of Sam Hilditch's stable at New York. Low is one of the best trainers in the country and has won many races for his clients.

After the Graveland meeting, Jockey, Radcliffe will pass a week at his home in Chicago. He will report to the Keene stable the first week in October.

Judge Louis Lissak made his appearance at the Graveland track yesterday. He has been taking life easy up at the McCloud river.

Cashier Tom Cook was at the track yesterday.

Spokane and Chicago romancists are printing a woolly story about the career of Billy A. which is said to have appeared in several sensational performance on New York and other Eastern race tracks. The horse may have died near the side of the road some days ago and may have killed men in his career. But he never appeared on any track in the East and was a chestnut horse by Wildie Bonanza, by Lord, foaled in 1882, which always raced in the West—badly—and was twenty five years old when he died.

Kansas Price is racing a stable of horses the property of Dave Gibson at Jockey, Hart's doing his riding.

Trainer Morris P. Papp, a horseman of the old school died at Reno the other day.
